CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curriculum Design and Development

1.1.1 - Curricula developed and implemented have relevance to the local, national, regional and global developmental needs which is reflected in Programme outcomes (POs), Programme Specific Outcomes(PSOs) and Course Outcomes(COs) of the Programmes offered by the University

Promoting basic study as well as research in traditional art forms of both Telugu States of Telangana and Andhra Pradesh such as Kuchipudi dance, Perirni Natyam, Carnatic Music, Theatre, Telugu Language, Literature and Journalism. Preparation and publication of Encyclopedia and Lexicons. These two disciplines are the unique features of our academic activities. The Centre for Preparation of Encyclopedia involves eminent scholars from different fields in preparing Encyclopedias on various facets of Telugu culture and language. The global demand activity is conducted through the International Telugu Centre, an important wing of the University. The University is catering to the needs of Telugu students living in other States and abroad by providing text books and other material.

It is working in collaboration with Telugu Associations in other countries to provide material for young children to develop their language capabilities. The syllabus and examinations conducted by the University will enable them to take up advanced studies in Telugu at a later stage. Foreign students, interested in learning Telugu are provided a platform in the form of diploma and certificate courses and training camps.

1.3 - Curriculum Enrichment

1.3.1 - Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum

The Courses in Department of Communication and Journalism aim at developing social responsibility of the students. Media as the Fourth Estate has a responsible role to play in ensuring social citizenship and the students of these courses are equipped to work towards this ideal through all forms of media viz. print, electronic and new media. The Fine Arts and Performing Arts are self-conducive by themselves in promoting and propagating human values and sensitivities. The courses in Fine Arts and Performing Arts actively motivate in creating awareness. The Department of Folk Arts trains its students to use folk art forms in spreading social message (child labour, gender sensitisation) in remote areas of the state. The Department of Theatre Arts promotes the use of theatre by training the students to write, direct and enact on themes of social issues. Performances in the Theatre Arts often portray Women's issues in various formats like street theatre and environment theatre. Topics like social awareness, human values and gender sensitisation form the themes as part of the dance performances. Communication and Computer skills have also been incorporated in all P.G. Programmes. Women issues are dealt in the course work of Socio-linguistics in the Department of Linguistics Under the unit Language and Power. Research students in Centre for comparative literature, Centre for English, Telugu and Theatre Arts are encouraged to work on women writing and women's issues. Feminist works in Telugu are chosen as research topics in M. Phil and PhD.

2.2 - Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 - The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organises special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

In the Departments of Performing and Visual arts, (Dance, Theatre, Music, Painting and Sculpture) the practice sessions/practical classes give an indication of the slow learner as against the advanced learner. In other courses seminars and internal assignment syndicate the quality of the learner. Special classes are provided for those who are not able to keep up pace with others. The advanced learner is encouraged to perform in front of renowned artistes in their field from time to time (especially during special occasions such as Music Day, Theatre Day etc) so that they will gain knowledge as well as encouragement from them.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Teaching-learning methods adopted by the faculty members include Lecture Method, Interactive Method, Project-based Learning, Computer assisted Learning, Experiential Learning etc. The Teaching - learning activities are made effective through illustration and special lectures. Eighty percent of the courses focus on experiential learning including practical and work experience. The curriculum equips the students to achieve self-sustainability through developing their talents. The creative talent of the students is encouraged in these practical classes; for instance, the Department of Theatre Arts includes in its curriculum a unit for the students to write, produce and direct stage plays and Television plays. This gives them hand-on experience in the field. The student sare also encouraged to participate in the cultural activities conducted by the University on different occasions. Thus paving wayfor them to hone-up their skills. This being a university to promote culture and Arts in the main, most of the courses are practical oriented. While the Fine and Performing Art departments incorporate performances in the curriculum, the Department of Communications and Journalism gives practical training in Print Media and Electronic Media. The faculty members foster learning environment by engaging in rich experiential teaching through demonstration, visual aids,organizing exhibitions, presenting papers,holding seminars.

2.5.3 - IT integration and reforms in the examination procedures and processes (continuous internal assessment and end-semester assessment) have brought in considerable improvement in examination management system of the institution

Students performance is evaluated through slip tests, assignments, performances, semester end exams. For the U.G. and P.G courses, there are two internal assessment exams per semester within three months and before semester exams. The Internal assessment would be for 20 % and the External examination marks for 80%. For the M.Phil and Ph.D students, the course is for one Semester. The Part I exam of M.Phil is for a maximum marks of 300 (3 papers) and the Pre-Ph.D. course is for a maximum marks of 200 (2 papers). For all PG courses double evaluation (one internal and one external) practice is in vogue for last several years. For the Diploma, P.G. Diploma and Certificate Courses there is only external and annual evaluation.

2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - The institution has stated learning outcomes (generic and programme specific)/graduate attributes which are integrated into the assessment process and widely publicized through the website and other documents

This University offers Mass Communication and Journalism. The courses in visual arts and performing arts (Music, Dance, Theatre & Folk) train the students in excellence in the chosen art which enhances their skills and brings creativity and excels in their professions. The Department of Dance brings some expertise in aspects like choreographing. The Department of Music teaches the students to compose music, encourage them to write lyrics. The Department of Theatre Arts train the students in all theatre-art skills such as dramas, script-writing, acting, make-up and stage properties. The Department of Painting and Sculpture train the students to use computer and multi-media along with visual arts. This University is offering Mass Communication and Journalism (MCJ), wherein students can enhance their skills as reporter, improve their communication skills.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution during the year

The academic performance of students is evaluated through seminars, PPTs, assignments and slip tests. Special classes are arranged for the slow learners and similarly the students are encouraged to participating in group discussions. Students' feedback on the courses is collected from them. The students are asked to prepare presentations on various topics. Since the courses in this University are seldom impersonal (in performing arts, the teacher and student need to act as a team and personal attention is natural to each student), the relationship exercise in creativity, team-work and mutual co-operation between teacher-student borders on companionship. Hence the evaluation process becomes an exercise in creativity, team-work and mutual co-operation.

GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - The institution has a clearly stated vision and mission which are reflected in its academic and administrative governance

The organizational structure is decentralized with responsibilities of each department clearly etched. The Vice-Chancellor is the academic head of the University. All the policy decisions will be taken by the Vice-Chancellor with the approval of the Executive Council. The Registrar, as the administration head, oversees the organizational functioning. The Finance Officer is the statutory officer of the University who looks after the financial matters. The hierarchy of both academic and administrative structure is such that the Deans and Directors and Officers of the University need to lead from the front and the university takes care that the people in higher positions possess leadership qualities. The Heads of the department co-ordinate and monitor the work of the department under the guidance of the Deans of the respective schools. The Directors of the Centre monitor the work of the Centre. The Research Committee monitors the smooth progress of research work in coordination with the Heads, Directors and Deans. The IQAC coordinates with the Heads, Directors and Deans regarding UGC projects, academic affairs, research etc., to maintain the quality. The Controller of Examination monitors the examination process. The Central Admission Committee monitors the process of admissions.

6.1.2 - The effective leadership is reflected in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management

The University leadership functions through a process of democratic decentralization. The Vicechancellor delegates academic, administrative and financial powers to its various units. Rotation system is followed in appointing teachers to the statutory academic and administrative positions such as Head of the Department, Chairman, Board of Studies and Deans of Faculty on the basis of seniority. Senior teachers are involved in the administrative positions such as Registrar, Principals, Controller of Examination, Director of Admissions, UGC Coordinating Officer, Director-CDE and others. In all meetings of academic nature, the Vice-chancellor holds meetings periodically with the Heads, Directors and Deans before taking a decision. The Teachers have an Association which discusses the proposals and decisions concerning the faculty in the General Body Meetings and represents these resolutions to the Higher Authorities. Any decision regarding the curriculum, courses, programmes are discussed in the Departmental committees and Board of Studies in which the faculty is involved. All problems concerning courses or students are discussed by the vice-chancellor with the faculty and a collective decision is arrived at in finding solutions.

1.3 - Curriculum Enrichment1.3.1 - Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum

The Courses in Department of Communication and Journalism aim at developing social responsibility of the students. Media as the Fourth Estate has a responsible role to play in ensuring social citizenship and the students of these courses are equipped to work towards this ideal through all forms of media viz. print, electronic and new media. The Fine Arts and Performing Arts are self-conducive by themselves in promoting and propagating human values and sensitivities. The courses in Fine Arts and Performing Arts actively motivate in creating awareness. The Department of Folk Arts trains its students to use folk art forms in spreading social message (child labour, gender sensitisation) in remote areas of the state. The Department of Theatre Arts promotes the use of theatre by training the students to write, direct and enact on themes of social issues. Performances in the Theatre Arts often portray Women's issues in various formats like street theatre and environment theatre. Topics like social awareness, human values and gender sensitisation form the themes as part of the dance performances. Communication and Computer skills have also been incorporated in all P.G. Programmes. Women issues are dealt in the course work of Socio-linguistics in the Department of Linguistics Under the unit Language and Power. Research students in Centre for comparative literature, Centre for English, Telugu and Theatre Arts are encouraged to work on women writing and women's issues. Feminist works in Telugu are chosen as research topics in M. Phil and PhD.

2.2 - Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 - The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organises special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

In the Departments of Performing and Visual arts, (Dance, Theatre, Music, Painting and Sculpture) the practice sessions/practical classes give an indication of the slow learner as against the advanced learner. In other courses seminars and internal assignment syndicate the quality of the learner. Special classes are provided for those who are not able to keep up pace with others. The advanced learner is encouraged to perform in front of renowned artistes in their field from time to time (especially during special occasions such as Music Day, Theatre Day etc) so that they will gain knowledge as well as encouragement from them.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Teaching-learning methods adopted by the faculty members include Lecture Method, Interactive Method, Project-based Learning, Computer assisted Learning, Experiential Learning etc. The Teaching - learning activities are made effective through illustration and special lectures. Eighty percent of the courses focus on experiential learning including practical and work experience. The curriculum equips the students to achieve self-sustainability through developing their talents. The creative talent of the students is encouraged in these practical classes; for instance, the Department of Theatre Arts includes in its curriculum a unit for the students to write, produce and direct stage plays and Television plays. This gives them hand-on experience in the field. The student sare also encouraged to participate in the cultural activities conducted by the University on different occasions. Thus paving wayfor them to hone-up their skills. This being a university to promote culture and Arts in the main, most of the courses are practical oriented. While the Fine and Performing Art departments incorporate performances in the curriculum, the Department of Communications and Journalism gives practical training in Print Media and Electronic Media. The faculty members foster learning environment by engaging in rich experiential teaching through demonstration, visual aids,organizing exhibitions, presenting papers,holding seminars.

2.5.3 - IT integration and reforms in the examination procedures and processes (continuous internal assessment and end-semester assessment) have brought in considerable improvement in examination management system of the institution

Students performance is evaluated through slip tests, assignments, performances, semester end exams. For the U.G. and P.G courses, there are two internal assessment exams per semester within three months and before semester exams. The Internal assessment would be for 20 % and the External examination marks for 80%. For the M.Phil and Ph.D students, the course is for one Semester. The Part I exam of M.Phil is for a maximum marks of 300 (3 papers) and the Pre-Ph.D. course is for a maximum marks of 200 (2 papers). For all PG courses double evaluation (one internal and one external) practice is in vogue for last several years. For the Diploma, P.G. Diploma and Certificate Courses there is only external and annual evaluation.

2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - The institution has stated learning outcomes (generic and programme specific)/graduate attributes which are integrated into the assessment process and widely publicized through the website and other documents

This University offers Mass Communication and Journalism. The courses in visual arts and performing arts (Music, Dance, Theatre & Folk) train the students in excellence in the chosen art which enhances their skills and brings creativity and excels in their professions. The Department of Dance brings some expertise in aspects like choreographing. The Department of Music teaches the students to compose music, encourage them to write lyrics. The Department of Theatre Arts train the students in all theatre-art skills such as dramas, script-writing, acting, make-up and stage properties. The Department of Painting and Sculpture train the students to use computer and multi-media along with visual arts. This University is offering Mass Communication and Journalism (MCJ), wherein students can enhance their skills as reporter, improve their communication skills.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution during the year

The academic performance of students is evaluated through seminars, PPTs, assignments and slip tests. Special classes are arranged for the slow learners and similarly the students are encouraged to participating in group discussions. Students' feedback on the courses is collected from them. The students are asked to prepare presentations on various topics. Since the courses in this University are seldom impersonal (in performing arts, the teacher and student need to act as a team and personal attention is natural to each student), the relationship exercise in creativity, team-work and mutual co-operation between teacher-student borders on companionship. Hence the evaluation process becomes an exercise in creativity, team-work and mutual co-operation.

6.1.2 - The effective leadership is reflected in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management

The University leadership functions through a process of democratic decentralization. The Vicechancellor delegates academic, administrative and financial powers to its various units. Rotation system is followed in appointing teachers to the statutory academic and administrative positions such as Head of the Department, Chairman, Board of Studies and Deans of Faculty on the basis of seniority. Senior teachers are involved in the administrative positions such as Registrar, Principals, Controller of Examination, Director of Admissions, UGC Coordinating Officer, Director-CDE and others. In all meetings of academic nature, the Vice-chancellor holds meetings periodically with the Heads, Directors and Deans before taking a decision. The Teachers have an Association which discusses the proposals and decisions concerning the faculty in the General Body Meetings and represents these resolutions to the Higher Authorities. Any decision regarding the curriculum, courses, programmes are discussed in the Departmental committees and Board of Studies in which the faculty is involved. All problems concerning courses or students are discussed by the vice-chancellor with the faculty and a collective decision is arrived at in finding solutions.
